

INTELLECTUAL WELL-BEING

Hobbies (e.g. puzzles, knitting, and painting).

Go through your digital photos and make a photo album (e.g. Shutterfly, Picaboo).

Reading (start that book series you've been wanting to read)! Maybe take advantage of e-books at your local library (Guelphites: see e-books at the Guelph Library).

Recognizing creative abilities and finding ways to expand knowledge and skills* during COVID-19

Learn a new song on a musical instrument.

Try a new recipe (check out Jamie Oliver's 'Keep Cooking and Carry On' series and flexible recipes)

Practice a new language (e.g. Duolingo).

Listen to podcasts (e.g. David Burns' 'Feeling Good'; Dr. Steven Taylor's 'What Happens to Our Minds During a Pandemic'; and Dr. Seja Patel's 'Are you the perfect quarantine parent? \(No, and there's no need to be\)').

Check out Broadway musicals (for free!)

Online courses (many are now free during COVID-19 social distancing, including Yale's Science of Well-Being, the University of Toronto's Mind Control: Managing Your Mental Health during COVID-19, and Starling Minds' Managing Stress and Anxiety During COVID-19).

Online games (bonus points for doing this virtually with friends – social well-being too!)

Check out virtual travel options (including sites like le Louvre and the Sistine Chapel!) or museums like The British Museum's 'Museum of the World'.
