

Membership in the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health

Members of the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health form a strong interdisciplinary community dedicated to research, service, and knowledge mobilization that advances the mission of the Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health (the Centre) and fosters health and safety in rural and agricultural populations in Saskatchewan and beyond.

Mission: To conduct and stimulate research, education, service, and health promotion programs aimed at enhancing the health and well-being of agricultural and rural populations.

Membership Process

Fill out the membership form and email to ruralaghealth@usask.ca. Applications will be reviewed by the Centre Leadership Team.

Membership requires nomination by ONE program lead of the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health.

Membership Categories

Associate Member: Associate Members are faculty from USask or any recognized University nationally or internationally, who are leading or initiating research, service, or knowledge mobilization activities that advance the mission of the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health (the Centre).

Affiliate Member: Affiliate members are any non-faculty individual or organization that supports activities that advance the mission of The Centre.

Membership Benefits

Membership brings with it the benefit of enhanced national and international visibility, potential for collaboration (locally, nationally and internationally), members are recognized in The Centre membership directory, member activities and recognitions will be highlighted in our newsletters and annual reports, and members will receive updates on opportunities for professional development and research and outreach collaboration opportunities. Membership also grants access to communications initiatives related to ongoing events, activities, and opportunities. Current members are listed in the 'Our People' section of The Centre website.

Membership Responsibilities

Members of all categories are expected to be active in furthering the mission of The Centre, and to further the goals of the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health as a University of Saskatchewan research centre.

Membership Application for the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health

Full Name:

Address:

Institution:

College:

Department:

Area of specialization:

Personal and/or lab webpage address:

Google scholar account URL:

Please include a brief summary of how your research program, extension activities, and/or service address the Centre's mission to 'conduct and stimulate research, education, and health promotion programs aimed at enhancing the health and well-being of agricultural and rural populations':

Type of Membership: Associate Member: _____ Affiliate Member: _____

The Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health (the Centre) is a University of Saskatchewan Research Centre. The mission of the Centre is to conduct and stimulate research, service, education, and promotion aimed at enhancing the health and well-being of agricultural and rural populations.

The Canadian Centre is home to research laboratories including Vibration/Ergonomics Lab, Occupational Hygiene wet and dry labs, Rural Health Lab, Mass Spectrometry Lab, Environmental Epidemiology Lab, Knowledge Translation Lab and clinics, Respiratory Exposures Lab, CANWORKSAFE Lab and clinic, Tele-transmission Lab, Rural and Remote Memory Lab and clinic, and Innovation and Commercialization lab. Access to the Centres' research space and laboratories is via the online collaboration form on the Centre website.

Membership in the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health represents an agreement that, either in whole or in part, the signee's research, education and/or outreach activities advance the mission of the Centre.

Members are invited and encouraged to participate in the Centre's seminar series, symposia, and other activities that share and showcase the work being undertaken. Affiliation with the Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health can be noted as appropriate in communications, publications, and media.

The members position as well as departmental and collegial responsibilities, salary and benefits, and office and research space remain the responsibility of their academic Department/College/School or Institution.

This membership can be terminated by either party at any point.

Nominating Program Lead Signature

Date

Applicant Signature

Date

Director, Canadian Centre for Rural and Agricultural Health

Date